County breaks ground for new 300-bed jail

BY BOB DEMAREE

Local officials broke ground on the new Jefferson County Sheriff's Office and Criminal Justice Center Friday morning, signaling the beginning of a construction project slated to be completed in 2023 at a cost of up to $45 million.

"It's been an interesting road to get here," Commission President David Bramer said of the project, which began in 2017 when state officials told the county to correct its jail overcrowding or face penalties.

"Something needs to happen with our jail" and they have worked to make sure it's all done in the best way possible every step of the way, Bramer said.

A process that began with a feasibility study, continued with site acquisition, needs assessment, design and project management, finance and bond sales, bid advertisement and approval finally resulted in shovels being turned at the site, 1150 J.A. Berry Lane on Madison's hilltop.

"This facility is going to be set up in an efficient, management style that allows for the safety of our officers," said Sheriff Dave Thomas.

For example, Thomas said there will be a recreation area which each inmate will be able to access for required recreation time in close proximity to a cell. "It will provide for officer safety and efficiency

Fire investigators pick through the debris of a manufactured home that was destroyed by fire Thursday morning on Greenbriar Road in eastern Jefferson County. A body was recovered at the scene and an autopsy will be conducted on Monday to identify the victim and the cause of death.

Autopsy planned to ID victim of rural fire

BY BOB DEMAREE

Authorities are looking to an autopsy on Monday to help positively identify a body discovered at a Thursday morning house fire on Greenbrier Road in rural Milton Township north of Brooksburg and east of Manville.

County Coroner Rodney Nay said Friday morning that an autopsy is scheduled on Monday to identify the body and cause of death.

The fire was first reported shortly before 7 a.m. Thursday and by the time firefighters arrived, flames had already engulfed the house, a manufactured home located in the 3300 block of North Greenbrier Road, as well as a nearby storage building.

Rykers' Ridge Fire Chief Art Peters said he could not speculate exactly when the fire began, but Jefferson County Sheriff's Investigator C.J. Miller confirmed the call was made to county emergency services at 6:53 a.m.

The residence is located in a remote area of Jefferson County well off main highways near the Switzerland County line and the roads emergency units traveled to the site wind around turns and through hills. Firefighters arrived quickly — the first responding firefighters from Milton Township Fire Department arriving at 7:04 a.m., just 11 minutes after the initial call — but the home was already totally engulfed and the roof had collapsed.

Peters said Rykers' Ridge Fire Department arrived at 7:16 a.m. and the structure was "already falling down when we got there. It had a good head start before we got there." Peters speculated that the fire probably had been burning for some time before anyone noticed it, but that investigators from the State Fire Marshal's Office will better determine that.

Two engines and two tankers from Milton Township and Rykers' Ridge fire departments battled the blaze. Peters said multiple one-half mile trips were made to refill tanker trucks to keep putting water on the fire. At 11 a.m., more than four hours after

Mr. Benny D. Garland, Sr., age 91, of Vevay, Indiana entered this life on February 25, 1930 in Fayette County, Kentucky. He was the loving son of the late Robert B. and Ruby B. Dykes Garland. He was raised in Fayette County and attended North Middletown High School. Benny had to quit high school when his father got hurt and needed him to help with the farm operation. He was raised in the Centerville United Methodist Church in Bourbon County, Kentucky. He was inducted into the United States Army on July 21, 1954 and rose to the rate of Specialist Three serving in the 84th Tank Battalion, Third Armored Division under General Patton. He was honorably discharged on April 20, 1956 and was proud he received his GED while in the service. On March 1, 1947 Benny was united in marriage to Evelyn Jean Redding in Fayette County at his father in law and mother in law's home on the front porch with an inch of snow on the ground. This happy union of nearly 59 years was blessed with sons, Timothy, Ricky Lee, Benny, Roger, and John Mark. Benny and Jean resided in Clark County, Kentucky for 15 years before moving the family to Switzerland County in 1963. Benny and Jean became involved with Grandview Memorial Gardens in Madison in 1969. They helped to landscape, develop and market the cemetery until selling their interest in 1979. Benny farmed all of his life, raising beef cattle, turkeys, tobacco, corn, hogs, and milk cows. In August 2001 the Garlands moved to a new home near Lamb from the Garland Road farm at Tucky View Farm. Benny was a member of the Spring Branch Baptist Church, where he served as a deacon, trustee, song leader, and Sunday school superintendent. He was a member of the Switzerland County Farm Bureau. He and Jean received the Silver Star Award for farm conservation from the Switzerland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. He was a faithful member of the Gideons-Switzerland County Camp serving as president for 33 years. He held membership in the Burley Tobacco Co-op in Lexington, Kentucky for 26 years and had served as national director; the Switzerland County Soil and Water Conservation Board and ASCS Board; and served on the Switzerland County 4-H Fair Board for many years. In Benny's spare-time he loved to fish, bird hunt and enjoyed socializing with friends and family. After the death of his beloved wife, Benny was united in marriage to Shelby Jean Tingle Minch and they shared many happy years of marriage until her health declined with Alzheimer's and they enjoyed attending the Union Baptist Church at Lamb as well as Spring Branch Baptist Church. Benny died on Wednesday, July 21, 2021, at 6:25 p.m. at the Heritage House of Greensburg in Greensburg, Indiana with his loving family at his side.

What's making songbirds sick?

BY CHRISTINA LARSON
AP SCIENCE WRITER

WASHINGTON — A mysterious ailment has sickened and killed thousands of songbirds in several mid-Atlantic states since late spring. While scientists are still racing to confirm the cause, it seems juvenile birds may be most susceptible. The U.S. Geological Survey, which oversees responses to some natural hazards and risks, has recommended that people temporarily take down bird feeders and clean out bird baths to reduce places that birds could closely congregate and potentially spread disease.

WHICH BIRDS ARE AFFECTED?

So far the majority of birds reported as ailing have been fledgling blue jays, American robins, European starlings and common grackles, but other songbirds are also affected.

The main visible symptoms are swollen eyes or crusty discharge around the eyes, as well as off-balance movements that may indicate neurological damage.

WHERE ARE BIRDS GETTING SICK?

Wildlife managers and veterinarians first received reports in late April and May of sick birds in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Washington, D.C. More recent reports have come from Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana. The outbreak may have peaked in June and be declining in some early hotspots, but it's ongoing in other regions, according to Brian Evans, a bird ecologist at the Smithsonian National Zoo & Conservation Biology Institute.

WHAT'S CAUSING THE SICKNESS?

Scientists at the USGS, the Smithsonian and universities are still working to determine the causes. Through testing of sick and deceased birds, they have determined that this outbreak was not primarily caused by salmonella, chlamydia, avian influenza virus, West Nile virus or a few other viruses that commonly afflict birds.

WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP?

USGS is recommending that people remove backyard bird feeders, avoid handling sick birds and keep pets away from birds. The agency also recommends that people with bird baths disinfect them with a solution of 10% bleach and 90% water.

"Because we don't know what it is, we have to be that much more vigilant. We still don't know if it's caused by a virus or a bacteria" or a toxic chemical in pesticides, said Jordan Rutter, director of public relations at the American Bird Conservancy, a nonprofit group.

However, removing bird feeders doesn't have to mean ignoring the needs of birds. Rutter suggested that people with yards could incorporate native plants that provide food, such as berries and nectar, while also attracting insects birds eat.

HOW UNUSUAL IS THIS OUTBREAK?

Birds are susceptible to several viruses and bacteria. When a contagious pathogen begins to spread among birds in an area, wildlife managers typically recommend that residents remove outdoor feeders. This spring an outbreak of salmonella among wild songbirds in several states caused the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to issue such a warning.

What's different in this instance is that scientists do not know the cause of the ailment.

HRC wants LGBTQ wording stated in Housing Ordinance

Mayor: City remains committed to diverse, inclusive community

BY BOB DEMAREE

Meeting for the first time in nearly two years, the City of Madison's Human Relations Commission voted unanimously to recommend restoring non-discrimination wording to the city's Housing Ordinance to protect against discrimination based on "sexual orientation and gender identity."

HRC Chairman Nathan Montoya said Thursday that in 2018 "sexual orientation and gender identity" had been added to the ordinance after approval of an amendment endorsed by HRC and sponsored by David Alcorn, who was a city councilman at the time.

About two months ago Montoya discovered that the words "sexual orientation and gender identity" were no longer included in the non-discrimination portion of the Housing Ordinance. After further investigation, he discovered the ordinance had been amended to repeal and replace the ordinance as part of the city's application for a Community Block Development Grant under the COVID-19 Response Program of the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs at a Madison City Council meeting on July 21, 2020.

Montoya said the omission of the sexual orientation and gender identity protections "was a surprise to me, as the commission had not been notified of any pending changes."

During Thursday's HRC meeting, Randy Lakeman, Director of Development and the Diversity Lead at Ivy Tech-Madison, read a letter from Alcorn, who was unable to attend the meeting. Alcorn recalled the amendment to the Housing Ordinance for LGBTQ inclusion passed by a 5-2 Council vote in 2018, and expressed that he believed Mayor Bob Courtney had intentionally misled the city council in updating the Housing Ordinance in 2020 to take out that inclusive language.

"This ordinance must be changed back to what it said four years ago," Alcorn said in his letter.

Commission member Bill Johnson said he appreciated Alcorn's "background and bringing his voice to the table, but I don't know for sure that the Mayor intentionally misled."

Commission member Jessica McAlister said that "to take out inclusive language to get a grant is very confusing to me. It doesn't seem necessary," and she would like clarification to better understand why sexual orientation and gender identity were taken out of the ordinance.

Montoya noted that part of the issue could be related to city officials believing that to apply for the OCRA grant they needed to follow a Housing Ordinance template provided by the Southern Indiana Regional Planning Commission that did not include verbiage specific to sexual orientation and gender identity.

Johnson, wondering if there was a thorough review of the 2020 Housing Ordinance document, noted "they missed some big errors even in the boilerplate," where the city's name still says "Any town, Indiana" rather than Madison.

"They didn't bother to put in Madison, Indiana," Johnson said.

Commission member Katy Hadley said that for whatever reason, the 2020 ordinance does not mesh with the message Mayor Courtney has consistently sent when discussing such topics.

"I have heard Mayor Courtney say a couple of times that nobody should be discriminated against; that this is an inclusive community," she said. However, she noted that restoring the language could easily provide documentation. "What a great way to solidify that by going back and fixing this," she said.

When contacted for comment on Friday, Courtney issued a statement outlining the amendment to the Housing Ordinance and reaffirming that the non-discrimination protections expressed in 2018 are still in place. However, he noted that allegations that he misled or attempted to mislead Madison City Council prior to the July 2020 vote are not only false but disappointing.

"I am disappointed in the allegations made during the Human Relations Commission public meeting and the management of the meeting by the board chairman, Nathan Montoya," Courtney wrote in his statement. "During this meeting the city was misrepresented and the public was not provided with accurate information regarding this ordinance change.

"In July of 2020, the city applied for a COVID-19 Response Program grant from the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs (OCRA). During the application process the city was informed by the Southeastern Indiana Regional Planning Commission (SIRPC) our housing nondiscrimination and drug free workplace ordinances were not in compliance with OCRA and needed to be corrected to be eligible for the grant to support our small business community.

"The said language, does not remove any persons' protections and does not allow for any persons to be discriminated against for any reason. Our ordinances make it unlawful to discriminate. Furthermore, the city has reaffirmed our commitment to promote a diverse and inclusive community on numerous accounts including the adoption of a resolution in our city council meeting on June 3, 2020. We vehemently oppose discrimination of any kind and support equal rights for all.

"As always, I welcome constructive dialogue on all topics affecting the City of Madison from our residents," Courtney concluded.

Montoya also followed up on the discussion Friday but noting that Lakeman was not speaking on his own behalf but rather relaying information on behalf of David Alcorn, who was an invited guest, but unable to attend.

"He had something to say that he was passionate enough to want to say at our meeting, and he asked Randy Lakeman to do that as a friend," Montoya said of Alcorn. "As an investigative body, we can request testimony on matters before the commission for anything that informs our decision. We ask for outside information to inform our discussion ... and do have guests to inform our discussion."

Montoya said the Commission is less concerned with how the language was omitted from the ordinance and more toward asking that it be restored.

"We do not know why this happened, we just know what happened," Montoya said. "Whether it was a clerical error or omission by oversight. Our concern is that it be remedied."

In other business, the Commission:

- Discussed the fact that HRC had not met since Aug. 7, 2019, which Montoya attributed to the COVID-19 pandemic. "None of this was anyone's fault," he said.

However, Madison City Council member Curtis Chatham explained that it's important for HRC to find a way to have public meetings — say by utilizing technology — even if COVID-19 makes it impossible to meet in-person. "When you weren't able to meet, the perception was that what was going on wasn't as important because you didn't find a way to meet," Chatham said.

Several HRC members said it was their understanding that technology wasn't available for them to meet. "We did try several times to figure out how we could meet," Montoya said. "I did not get the feeling we were being denied something; that it was just an issue" that there wasn't a workable way to do it.

"I'll take the responsibility and I will work with the Mayor's office to be sure that platform is available for you," Chatham said.

- Agreed for the current officers to continue with Montoya chairman, Sue Livers vice chairman and Johnson secretary. Hadley, McAlister, Shirley Kloepfer, Tony Schroeder, Roland Newman and Season Jackson also serve as members.
- Agreed to work with resident Jill Kelly Koren in developing an Equity Audit for the City of Madison.
- Reported that for the spring of 2022 there will be a community focus on the book, "So You Want to Talk about Race" by Ijeoma Oluo, with plans the following year to focus on the book, "Just Mercy," by Bryan Stevenson.
- Voted unanimously to more prominently display the HRC's anti-hate statement on the City of Madison website to "affirm the inherent worth, dignity, and equality of all people and declare any message of hate or discrimination to be counter to the values of our diverse and inclusive community."

investigate Matthew D. Riddle, 35, of Lexington, Indiana.

On July 12, a search warrant for Riddle's residence was granted by Jefferson County Circuit Court including searching digital devices used by Riddle. The warrant was executed on July 13 and information collected from that search and investigation then led investigators to request a warrant for Riddle's arrest.

On July 21, investigators arrested Riddle on three counts of Possession of Child Pornography, all Level 5 felonies; and two counts of Possession of Child Pornography, both Level 6 felonies.

Matthew Riddle was taken into custody without incident and transported to the Jefferson County Jail where he is being held on a $200,00 cash bond. Weil also remains incarcerated at the Jefferson County Jail where he is being held on a $100,000 cash bond.

Both cases are still under investigation.

of time," said Thomas. "Instead of taking a week for required recreation time, it can be done in two days, and maybe one."

"There are reasons we are here doing what we are doing today," Council President Pam Crozier said. "Primarily, we want to protect our jail staff from overcrowding of the jail we now have, and from injury and harm."

However, she added that the current jail is not large enough to sufficiently house the county's inmates, so the county has to send the overflow to other jails, paying for their housing and transportation. "We need to keep them in Jefferson County, and keep those dollars in our county," Crozier said.

Crozier also expressed appreciation to county residents and their support for the project. "It's with you and your voices of support that this couldn't have been done," she said.

Scott Carnegie, representing DLZ, the jail's architectural firm, commended county officials for "having the courage it takes to start a project like this. Jails are not popular, but they are a necessity." He noted the 300-bed, 84,779 gross square feet facility is designed so that it's capable of expanding.

Owner's representative Jack Krouse has been working with the county on the jail project since 2019 and will continue to be involved until it's completed. "I have been constructing jails since 1980, and I can honestly tell you that in all the projects without a doubt, this is the smoothest a project has gone of any I have ever been involved."

Shireman Construction's Mark Shireman, construction manager for the project, said he's "honored to be on this team.

"This is going to be a great team," Shireman said. "We work well together and will continue to work well together."

DNR

"They were very receptive and had some very good comments," said Server. "Everything was well received and provided good feedback."

Hanover Town Clerk-Treasurer Keith Mefford said the DNR has received 16 grant applications totaling $6.2 million, and only has $5.7 million available. Mefford said Hanover asked for $240,000 in its application, which the town must match for an overall $480,000 project.

Improvements would include a restroom/storage building near the park amphitheater, extending trails by one-half mile in the vicinity of Fields 1 and 2, installing 72 lights for the park trails as well as lights for Fields 1 and 2 and the tennis court, refurbish an existing equipment storage building, and adding an officials building near Fields 1 and 2, and refurbishing the tennis courts.

After the tour, which took place on July 7, it was recommended that restrooms be added to the officials building. Server said he will must submit a final updated version of the proposal by July 28 that will include additional restrooms in the officials building.

Parks Director Scott Davidson said it is anticipated that the grant will be awarded in the fall. If Hanover receives funding, Davidson said that another DNR grant cannot be sought until the currently proposed project is substantially completed. Hanover would be allowed to apply for one more grant over the next eight years.

One project on the community's wish list is a Splash Park, and council member Debbie Kroger asked the park committee to pursue possible grant opportunities for that feature.

In other business:

- Davidson reported that Hanover hosted a Major League Baseball Pitch and Hit competition in which about 20 children competed. Two local divisional champions, Kennedy Rowlett and Kyra Ayler, have qualified for team competition this coming Saturday in Cincinnati.
- Hanover Bush League Softball is now playing on Thursdays with five teams and another league will start in September. Davidson said the Hanover Bush League has contributed several sets of catchers gear and a push mower to the parks department.
- Davidson recommended an adjustment in rental fees for the park community building. He said there have been several rental requests with only a few bookings. The current fee to rent the community building is a $50 refundable deposit and a four-hour minimum fee of $150 with additional costs for extended hours and kitchen use.

"The goal is to increase the use of the facility," said Davidson, who plans to submit an adjusted contract/fee structure at the next meeting.

- Announced a co-ed softball tournament on Saturday, July 31 as well as a concert at the amphitheater featuring Buffalo Wabs. Concert tickets are $15 in advance and $20 on the day of the show. Gates open at 5:30 p.m. with Wes Shipp and the Jacob DeAtley Trio opening for Buffalo Wabs.

Rochester Institute of Technology, founded in 1829, enrolls about 18,600 students in more than 200 career-oriented and professional programs, making it among the largest private universities in the U.S.

Highway Work

SPECIAL TO THE COURIER

SR 56 to get chip seal in Switzerland

Indiana Department of Transportation maintenance crews plan to begin chip seal operations as early as Tuesday, July 27, on State Road 56 in Switzerland and Ohio Counties. Work will take place between State Road 250 in East Enterprise to just west of State Road 262, near Glen Meadow Drive in Rising Sun.

Chip seal operations typically last around three to four days per location depending upon weather. Work is completed under lane closures with flagging to prevent damage to both vehicles and the roadway. During operations, existing pavement is coated with liquid asphalt, which seals cracks and provides waterproof protection. This extends the service life of the roadway and lowers maintenance costs. Once the seal coat is complete, loose aggregate is applied and swept from the road. After a curing period, crews will return and fog seal the new driving surface, typically within a week.

Chip seal is a cost-effective pavement preservation technique that is utilized across the state of Indiana, saving an estimated $6 to $14 in taxpayer expenditures for every dollar invested in extending the life of a roadway.

Motorists should slow down, watch for stopped traffic and drive distraction-free in and near all work zones. All work is weather dependent and schedules are subject to change.

CSX to work on crossings in Ripley

CSX Railroad will make additional repairs to two railroad crossings in Ripley County starting on or after Tuesday, July 27.

CSX will start with the State Road 129 crossing south of Delaware. State Road 129 will be closed in this location during repairs, and the official detour will follow US 50, US 421 and State Road 350. They will then close the State Road 101 crossing in Milan for repairs. The official detour will follow US 50 to State Road 129 and State Road 350.

CSX anticipates the first closure beginning at 8 a.m. on July 27 with all repair work completed in one to two days, weather permitting. Motorists are reminded to slow down, use extra caution, and drive distraction-free in and near work zones.

The Jefferson County Seed Library at Madison Public Library

Housed on the main floor of the Madison Public Library, the Jefferson County Seed Library is a collection of open-pollinated and heirloom seeds that growers can borrow to plant at home. Seeds are available from the second week in March through October.

Each person may check out up to three packets per visit, to a total of nine packets per season. At the end of the growing season, borrowers are encouraged to save seeds to return to the library and/or keep for their garden next year.

The Seed Library will only accept open-pollinated seeds that have been grown without the use of chemicals. The Seed Library is housed on the main floor of the Madison Public Library.

For questions regarding the Seed Library, email mjcplseedlibrary@gmail.com.

Who are seniors? Does that mean old folks? Does it mean retirees?

"Websters Dictionary describes a senior as An elderly person, especially one who is retired and living on a pension. Is that how you wish to be described?" Stephen Dybwad

Layin' It on the Line

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/
Wealth Management

So those folks who retired early and are living on their pensions are seniors? I have a good friend who retired at 57; does that make her a senior? The whole this is silly when you think about it. Shouldn't the stages of our lives be just that, stages? Why do we have to have labels and designations?

As an example, one common trait "seniors" or of folks living on a pension (or fixed income) is three things.

Living to long

Dying too soon

Fear of illness

A recent study of those retired or about to be retired repeated what most folks have known, getting older requires adjustments to their past experiences. The study identified the three segments of those retired.

A premature death could mean we have died before we have finished accumulating enough money this creating hardship for those who are dependent, such as a surviving spouse. Luckily, this can be covered by insurance; it is called life insurance.

Living too long can be a real problem. How do we make sure our money lasts as long as we do? What happens to us and our dependents? Should we live beyond our life expectancy? Of course, this can also be insured; they are called lifetime income annuities. Living too long is not all about money; it is about emotional changes, social adjustments, and dealing with a physical body that is more and more restrictive. Along with that is the underlying fear, a fear of being a burden, a burden to family, friends, and society.

The tough one is an illness, a critical illness. What do we do? How do we pay for it? Fortunately, insurance is available to help both in the home and in a facility. But insurance can be expensive, and premiums for Long Term Care insurance are not guaranteed; they can and will increase. Critical Care can use up a nest egg very fast, especially if it is a permanent situation. Through government programs, safety nets are in place to help those with limited options. Those who reach the correct age can benefit from Medicare for general health insurance, but often that just doesn't all the expenses, so a supplemental policy is usually required.

Insurance products do exist to help with all three stages of concern; life insurance replaces lost funds, an annuity can protect income streams, and a critical care rider can be available to help with long-term needs. I mean, when you think about it, would you go for a day without fire insurance on your home?

Why not investigate what is available and how the right type of insurance could help lower your stress?

Living in fear

ANNIE
LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I'm a happily married woman with two young children. My problem is that I'm very overweight, and I'm desperately afraid that my husband will leave me for someone skinny. I've voiced these insecurities to him. He swears to God that I'm the only one he'll ever love, that I'm so beautiful and that he has no interest in other women, skinny or otherwise. I am the only woman he's ever been with, and he truly does treat me like I'm the world to him. But still, I find myself thinking that he might leave me. I think part of my problem is that I grew up with a very skinny sister, and that made my life hard, as people compared us. Do you think I need to worry about skinny women and my husband? — Feeling Uneasy

Dear Feeling: Your husband loves you, clearly. But it doesn't matter how many times I tell you that or he tells you that. The peace you seek won't come from external reassurances. You need to develop more positive self-talk, to build yourself up rather than tear yourself down. Cognitive behavioral therapy can help with that. You can find a therapist who specializes in CBT at the Psychology Today website, or you can teach yourself some techniques with self-help books such as "Think Confident, Be Confident" by Leslie Sokol and Marci G. Fox, and "The Upward Spiral Workbook" by Alex Korb.

Dear Annie: It was with a sinking heart that I read your reply to "Mixing Friends with Business," who was unsure if she should use her friend as her real estate agent.

I went to school, passed a two-hour test and now am licensed by the state to sell real estate. I work under the supervision of a broker, am held to the highest ethical standards and must complete biannual courses to maintain my license. I am thankful for my many friends who have trusted me and hired me to help them with their real estate needs.

If you have a friend who is a real estate agent: Hire him or her. He or she will have your best interests at heart and will negotiate on your behalf. Some more experienced agents use methods designed to line their pockets quicker and encourage a seller to accept a lower offer so the agent can move on to higher-dollar properties. A realtor who is also your friend wouldn't do that. You really did those of us struggling to make a living a disservice. — Christine L.

Dear Christine: You really do make an excellent case that the plusses of working with friends outweigh potential minuses. A big mea culpa.

"Ask Me Anything: A Year of Advice From Dear Annie" is out now! Annie Lane's debut book — featuring favorite columns on love, friendship, family and etiquette — is available as a paperback and e-book. Visit http://www.creatorspublishing.com for more information. Learning to forgive

DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: About a year ago, after talking to a nice guy who could also be a royal pain — especially when things don't go his way — I decided to let him into my heart. I did this even though I am usually pretty well guarded and don't allow too many people close to me. I am one of those people who don't feel comfortable sharing my emotions with others, so there are very few people who are aware of the fact that I self-harm by using a razor blade to cut into my arms and, sometimes, legs.

When we argue, he will call me a series of names that are extremely hurtful. During a recent argument over something really stupid, he screamed at me, saying that I should cut deep enough in order to die. Afterward, I did cut for a while just to make me feel better, but it didn't. The next day, he acted as if nothing had happened, and I have tried to forgive him for what he said, but I don't know if I can find a way to do so.

I am confused about whether I should just forget about what was said or if I should hold onto the hurt feelings. — Confused and in Love

Dear Confused and In Love: The first person you have to forgive is yourself for cutting. The way your boyfriend is treating you is no good. You deserve to be treated better, but before anyone in a relationship is going to do that, you have to treat yourself better and stop cutting.

Self-injury through physical pain can relieve the emotional pain. But first, you have to deal with the emotional pain with a trained therapist, preferably one who specializes in cutting. Please try to not be hard on yourself. You sound like such a wonderful person, and with the right support team in place, I have no doubt that you will find true love, both with another and for yourself.

Dear Annie: I met a wonderful woman eight years ago, and ever since, we have basically lived together. When we first met, we were both coming off a divorce, and we agreed that we didn't want to get married ever again.

Now she would like to get married. I have no problem with that; however, I have to look at our future together. At age 62, I am nearing retirement. She is 55.

I have to look at the fact that Social Security reduces your benefits by a substantial amount if you are married. We are not well-off and need Social Security to survive in the future. I know this isn't very romantic, but sometimes you have to be practical. Thanks in advance for your advice. — Practical Bill

Dear Practical Bill: Love is not practical. If you both would like to get married, then get married. Life is too short.

SEI READI schedules workshops

SEI READI announced Friday Southeast Indiana's collaboration to compete for the Indiana Economic Development Corporation's Regional Economic Acceleration & Development Initiative (READI) funding opportunity.

This initiative includes the counties, cities, towns, private businesses, institutions and philanthropic organizations of Switzerland, Ripley, Dearborn, Franklin, Ohio and Union counties, who aim to achieve part of the $500 million allocation from the State of Indiana.

Creating a shared vision for the future, members of SEI READI and the Southeastern Indiana Regional Planning Commission and will use guidance from Thomas P. Miller & Associates, an economic development consulting firm headquartered in Indianapolis, Indiana, to help increase their chances of securing READI funding for economic growth and talent attraction.

"Regional collaboration, paired with support from TPMA, increases our probability of success. This funding could fuel our quality of life and place, innovation and entrepreneurship initiatives, and talent development and attraction," says Gary Norman, President of the Southeast Indiana Growth Alliance and Executive Director of Ripley County Economic Development Corporation.

Indiana lawmakers, under the direction of Governor Eric Holcomb, have allocated $500 million in funding for the IEDC READI program. Referring to it as a "bold, transformational initiative," the IEDC will award millions in catalytic funding to support the implementation of strategies focused on making positive developments in quality of place and quality of life, innovation, entrepreneurship, and talent attraction, and development.

"We are partnering to provide Southeast Indiana (SEI) with the support needed to leverage the READI funding opportunity for Southeast Indiana. TPMA will analyze data, conduct focus groups, facilitate community workshops, and work together to develop a vision and plan for elevated growth in Southeast Indiana," says Lindsay Bloos, Senior Project Consultant at TPMA.

Community workshops have been scheduled for the following dates and times:

- Aug. 5 — 9 a.m. to noon at Brookville Library
- Aug. 5 — 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Lawrenceburg Ivy Tech
- Aug. 6 — 9 a.m. to noon at Osgood Town Hall
- Aug. 6 — 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Switzerland County Technology and Education Center

For the latest developments or to register, visit http://www.southeastindiana.org/. The site contains more information about SEI READI, registration for community workshops, and will have a place for the public to submit their ideas, show support, and a form for Southeast Indiana organizations to submit their projects.

the fire was reported, the house totally burned to its metal frame and firefighters were tending to hot spots and smoldering flames to keep the fire from rekindling.

Miller noted that while the house and storage shed both burned "the grass between was not burned."

Peters said he wasn't sure what caused the two different structures to catch fire since there was some distance between the buildings but noted "if the wind blows enough" fire is likely to spread.

The fire remains under investigation by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department, Jefferson County Coroner Rodney Nay and the State Fire Marshal's office.

Shane's 20th win places him among the sport's best

He's tied with Wood for fourth-most Cups

Photos by David Campbell

U-1 HomeStreet/Miss Madison driver Jimmy Shane (lying down) works alongside the Miss Madison Racing crew to make adjustments to the boat prior to winning the APBA Gold Cup at Madison on July 4 — his 20th career win and fifth Gold Cup.

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

When Jimmy Shane crossed the finish line first two weeks ago, he did more than just win another APBA Gold Cup for Miss Madison Racing and the City of Madison.

He also confirmed his place among the sport's all-time greats.

Shane's victory aboard the U-1 Miss HomeStreet/Miss Madison on the team's home waters was the 20th of his career, making him just the sixth driver in H1 Unlimited's modern era to accomplish the feat.

It was also his fifth Gold Cup victory, tied for fourth-most ever.

"It's just amazing. It's really hard to put into words," Shane said after the win at Madison. "I've been very fortunate and very lucky to be the driver of the Miss Madison Racing Team. There are challenges that go along with it, but I wouldn't change it for the world. I love being the representative for this city, this team and this boat, and I'm happy that I could pull it off for them today."

Shane's 20 wins are far short of the man he beat out in the final heat at Madison. Dave Villwock, who began his driving career in 1992, has amassed 67 wins in the sport — more than anybody else — although he finished fourth at Madison after taking a penalty on the first lap of the final heat.

The other four drivers are legends in the sport and names familiar to any race fan: Bill Muncey (62 wins), Chip Hanauer (61), Dean Chenoweth (25) and Jim Kropfeld (22).

Muncey is considered by many to be the greatest driver who ever lived and Hanauer isn't far behind. Chenoweth and Kropfeld helped establish the dominance of the Miss Budweiser Race Team in the 1970s and 1980s, which was then continued by Hanauer in the 1990s and Villwock shortly thereafter.

By any calculation, Shane is now a part of that group.

His five Gold Cups tie him with Gar Wood for fourth-most behind only Hanauer (11), Villwock (10) and Muncey (8) and his six National Championships are behind only Villwock's 10 and eight each by Muncey and Hanauer.

Shane made his Unlimited driving debut in 2007 as a relief driver for Mike Allen in the U-1 Formulaboats.com II and appeared in four races over the next four years for Ted Porter's team. In each case Shane was driving a obsolete boat that was subbing for one of the team's primary hulls.

Shane finally got his chance to drive top-flight equipment in 2012 when Porter named him the primary driver of the U-5 Graham Trucking and the Maryland native immediately took off.

He won his third race with the team, at the Tri-Cities, Washington, and finished the season with a victory in Doha, Qatar.

He opened the 2013 campaign with another win in Doha and won four races that season to claim his first National High Points Championship.

The following season, Shane jumped to the Miss Madison, replacing the retired Steve David at the helm and has led the team to even greater heights.

He has won the national championship every season but one driving for sponsors Oberto Beef Jerky and HomeStreet Bank and his 15 wins are tied with David for the most with the team.

Since he got his first full-time ride in 2012, Shane consistently has been the top gun in the sport.

His 20 wins in that span are almost double the next closest driver (J. Michael Kelly with 11) and he has won 135 of the 206 heats he has entered, a .655 winning percentage.

Shane has also been the top qualifier 23 times — second-most to Villwock's 55 since 2000 — and he has scored 35 podium finishes with an average of 1,366 points earned per race — more than even Villwock over the past 20 years.

Shane is likely not close to being finished.

He currently has the HomeStreet/Miss Madison in first place entering this weekend's Columbia Cup in the Tri-Cities as pushes toward a seventh national championship.

And, at just 35 years old, Shane has plenty of years left to add to those totals.

Big Ten says schools to decide own COVID-19 protocols

BY RALPH D. RUSSO
AP COLLEGE FOOTBALL WRITER

Big Ten Commissioner Kevin Warren said the conference will take take a "decentralized" approach to COVID-19 protocols by allowing each school to put in place its own plan.

"Our schools are finalizing their proposed policies and procedures for the fall," Warren said at Big Ten football media days at Lucas Oil Stadium. "We'll get that information in early August, we'll combine it, and then we'll get together with our chancellors and presidents and other key constituents to make the determination as far as how we handle the fall."

Warren also said there has been no determination on whether games would be forfeited — as has been suggested by the Southeastern Conference and Big 12 — if teams cannot play because of COVID-19 issues.

Last season, the Big Ten at first called off its fall football season because of the pandemic before reversing course and deciding instead to start in late October.

The late start left no room for games to be made up and numerous Big Ten games were canceled because of COVID-19 left teams short players.

Warren said the conference plans to hire a chief medical officer before football season starts.

BIG TEN PRESEASON TEAMS

The preseason all-Big Ten team released Thursday includes three Ohio State players among 10 players selected by a media panel.

Offensive left tackle Thayer Munford and wide receivers Chris Olave and Garrett Wilson are cornerstones for a Buckeyes program that has won four consecutive conference titles and qualified for the College Football Playoff the past two years.

Each were 2020 first-team All-Big Ten selections.

Olave returns for his senior year with 87 receptions for 1,435 yards and 19 touchdowns in three seasons. In two seasons, Wilson has 73 receptions for 1,155 yards and 11 TDs.

Other East Division players honored were Indiana quarterback Michael Penix Jr. and Penn State wide receiver Jahan Dotson.

The West Division players include Minnesota running back Mohamed Ibrahim, Northwestern safety Brandon Joseph, Iowa center Tyler Linderbaum, Purdue wide receiver David Bell and Wisconsin linebacker Jack Sanborn. Ibrahim and Joseph were first-team

DNR stocking striped bass

BY SPECIAL TO THE COURIER

The Indiana Department of Natural Resources recently completed its annual stocking of striped bass and hybrid striped bass at Hardy Lake and several other lakes in Indiana.

DNR staff stocked more than 125,000 2-inch striped bass fingerlings in four southern Indiana public lakes and more than 134,000 2-inch hybrid striped bass fingerlings in nine lakes throughout the state including 1,000 striped bass and 10,000 hybrid striped bass at Hardy Lake in Scott County.

The stockings met or exceeded DNR's 2021 stocking goals for the two species.

Indiana does not have the native sources to spawn striped and hybrid striped bass so the DNR relies on commercial sources and state partners to supply fry for its hatchery system. In 2021, East Fork State Fish Hatchery staff developed a new relationship with the Jack D. Bayless Fish Hatchery in St. Stephen, South Carolina to supply Indiana with 500,000 striped bass fry. Good conditions in the hatchery ponds resulted in a surplus of fingerlings. The fish stocked in 2021 should reach a fishable size of 14 inches in 2023 and begin to exceed 20 inches in 2024. Based on stockings like this, Indiana anglers can look forward to continued quality striped and hybrid striped bass fishing opportunities.

Other lakes where striped and hybrid striped bass were stocked include:

- Brookville Lake (Union and Franklin County) — 72,600 striped bass
- Cecil M. Harden Lake (Parke County) — 40,600 striped bass
- Cedar Lake (Lake County) — 7,810 hybrids
- Clare Lake (LaPorte County) — 420 hybrids
- Lake Shafer (White County) — 12,910 hybrids
- Monroe Lake (Monroe County) — 53,750 hybrids
- Nyona Lake (Fulton County) — 1,040 hybrids
- Patoka Lake (Dubois County) — 11,353 striped bass; 44,000 hybrids
- Shadyside Park Lake (Madison County) — 1,575 hybrids
- Worster Lake (St. Joseph County) — 3,270 hybrids

For more information about fishing for these species in Indiana visit wildlife.IN.gov/fishing/striped-and-hybrid-striped-bass-fishing.

Bam's plan includes gold medal

BY TIM REYNOLDS
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

MIAMI — The banners are all aligned next to one another, swaying from the rafters over the court where the Miami Heat play their games. LeBron James has one. So does Dwyane Wade. Alonzo Mourning and Tim Hardaway, too.

They commemorate Olympic gold medals won as a member of the Heat.

And Bam Adebayo wants one.

The Heat center and his USA Basketball teammates — those who were cleared to fly or weren't still playing in the NBA Finals, anyway — arrived in Japan on Tuesday for the Tokyo Olympics. The Americans are seeking a fourth consecutive gold medal, and if they come home with that shiny prize, then Adebayo's banner plan will be complete as well.

"That's my goal," Adebayo said. "I want Miami to think of me as one of the greats to come through the city. I want to be able to warm up and see my name in the rafters. A lot of guys don't get this opportunity, so my goal is just to make sure that I seize this moment and not mess around with it."

Adebayo is one of two centers on the Olympic roster. New addition JaVale McGee — who replaced the injured Kevin Love — is the other. The Americans start Olympic play Tuesday against France, a significant game considering the French are the team that eliminated the U.S. from medal contention in the Basketball World Cup two years ago.

Adebayo, a first round pick out of Kentucky after one year with the Wildcats in 2016-17, will play a significant role in the U.S. rotation.

"He does what he does," U.S. coach Gregg Popovich said. "He's active. He's a rebounder. He runs. He knows how to play with teammates. He's handled the ball in Miami a lot, on wings, on elbows, out top, (dribble hand-offs), splits, pick-and-rolls. He's going to be very valuable to us and obviously our best rebounder."

It's a much different feeling for Adebayo now, compared with his first USA Basketball experience.

BAM ADABAYO

He was cut from the World Cup team in 2019 after a week of workouts in Las Vegas, and Adebayo hadn't been back to that city until July 5 — when he flew there from Miami to start Olympic training camp. Walking through the airport that day, he acknowledged some of the frustration from not making that U.S. roster two years ago was still present.

"I'm not the type of person that holds grudges," Adebayo said. "But it's a motivation factor, for sure."

Mourning and Hardaway won their banners as members of the Heat at the 2000 Sydney Olympics. Wade won his at the 2008 Beijing Games; James won at the 2012 London Games. James also won in 2008 and several other players who have worn the Heat uniform — including Chris Bosh, Shaquille O'Neal, Jimmy Butler, Andre Iguodala, Ray Allen, Gary Payton and Christian Laettner — are among those who have Olympic gold in their collection as well.

But the banners are reserved for those who win gold while members of the Heat.

"Of course, I want one of those," Adebayo said. "I'm going to the Olympics to represent my country. I'm also going to represent my city."

These days, that phrase — "my city" — takes on a different meaning.

Miami is hurting right now, a month or so removed from the condo collapse in Surfside, Florida, a waterfront town just a few miles north of downtown Miami. The middle-of-the-night crumbling of that building has been blamed for at least 97 deaths with a handful of people still unaccounted for.

One of Adebayo's final things to do before he left Miami for USA Basketball's camp in Las Vegas was to go to the site, to pay his respects, to thank first responders, to tell them he would have them in mind on his Olympic journey. He was told that the bottom seven floors of the complex were essentially pushed underground by the weight of the floors above them and that made him think of the apartment building where until recently he and his mother lived; Adebayo was on the 48th floor, his mother on the fifth.

"Going there, putting a wreath down for those who were missing, those who were recovered, those who didn't make it, it just hits you all at once that it could have been some of your friends, that it could have been anyone in here," Adebayo said. "I talked to the first responders and they were still full of hope. I felt like I was a therapy person. That's why I say it's my city because those faces, they responded to me. I wasn't doing anything special. I was just showing up and giving my support to them."

He spoke with someone who was rescued, along with plenty of people who were working long hours digging through the rubble.

"The least I can do is go out and try to win my country a gold medal, win my city a gold medal," Adebayo said. "To bring that back to Miami, it would just give some people a little light, a little spark that they need right now."

College coaches weighing NIL impact on future recruiting

BY AARON BEARD
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Devin Leary can only imagine what it's like being a high school recruit in the era of college athletes finally being able to profit from their fame. North Carolina State's fourth-year quarterback figures there will be plenty of questions about how to cash in.

"As a recruit now," Leary said, "I think it is important to ask because you just always want to know what's the best opportunity for yourself."

The endorsement deals came rolling in immediately after the NCAA allowed athletes to earn money for the use of their name, image and likeness beginning this month. It added a giant new wrinkle to the recruiting process, with coaches able to tout business opportunities alongside the usual selling points like facilities, TV exposure, career development and picturesque campuses.

"If I'm a quarterback who's looking at the SEC, ACC schools, big schools, that might be a big thing," Boston College graduate offensive lineman Zion Johnson said. "I think for certain players that might be a driving factor."

Several coaches at league media days across the country noted the NIL era is so new they are still sorting out what it means for the players on their current rosters, much less how it will impact the ones that have yet to sign. There was also uncertainty among some as to how will work without veering into the realm of forbidden "pay for play" arrangements to secure a commitment.

Northwestern coach Pat Fitzgerald offered his own blunt assessment, which seemed like a practice run at debunking any NIL-based recruiting pitches by competitors.

"Right now, there's a lot of head coaches getting on a dais, singing a bunch of songs that they have no idea what they're singing," Fitzgerald said. "'We've got the greatest NIL.' They're all full of it. That's all I'm going to say. Nobody knows what they're doing. They're all faking it. I'll be the first to admit it. If we focus on education, this thing will all kind of play itself out, big picture."

It hasn't helped that permissible NIL activities began under a patchwork of state laws or executive orders permitting NIL activities. There are no standardized rules and the NCAA has left specific guidance to school compliance offices. Broader NCAA regulations or a federal law are nowhere close to happening.

"The biggest concern … is federal legislation would be nice because, if you looked and combed across the country, not everybody's playing by the same rules," Georgia coach Kirby Smart said. "In other words, some schools are allowed to arrange deals. Some schools are not allowed to arrange deals."

Texas, Oklahoma show interest in joining SEC

BY RALPH D. RUSSO
AP COLLEGE FOOTBALL WRITER

The last time Texas got a wandering eye for another conference it fueled a series of realignments in college sports that nearly killed the Big 12.

Texas is once again exploring free agency, stealing the headlines at the Southeastern Conference media days and cranking up speculation about another round of conference shuffling. And the Longhorns aren't alone in looking around.

There have been discussions between Texas and Oklahoma and SEC officials about switching conferences, but no formal invitations have been extended, a person with knowledge of the situation told The Associated Press on Wednesday night.

The person, who spoke on condition of anonymity because the talks were intended to be confidential, said officials from Texas initiated the discussion. The Houston Chronicle first reported the discussions.

Adding two members would give the powerhouse SEC 16 teams, the most in major college football. Losing two schools would be a devastating blow to the 10-member Big 12.

Questions about the report were greeted by a series of no comments from the primary parties involved, but no denials.

"I'm talking about the 2021 season," SEC Commissioner Greg Sankey said at SEC football media days.

Texas A&M athletic director Ross Bjork was adamant about not wanting the Longhorns, once the school's greatest rival, in the SEC.

"We want to be the only SEC program in the state of Texas," Bjork told reporters. "There's a reason why Texas A&M left the Big 12, to be standalone, to have our own identity. And that's our feeling."

SEC bylaws require at least three-fourths (11) of the members to vote in favor of extending an invitation to join.

"The college athletics landscape is shifting constantly," Oklahoma said in a statement. "We don't address every anonymous rumor."

A Texas statement offered a similar response: "Speculation always swirls around collegiate athletics. We will not address rumors or speculation."

Big 12 Commissioner Bob Bowlsby did not return messages from AP seeking comment. Just last week at Big 12 media days in Arlington, Texas, he talked about how conference realignment was no longer a top concern for the Big 12.

"Not to say it couldn't happen, but it's not one of the things that keeps me up at night," he said.

Any move to leave the Big 12 would be complicated by an agreement its schools made after the last round of realignment to hand their media rights over to the league through their current television deals. The grant of rights lines up with the Big 12's contracts with Fox and ESPN and runs through the 2024-25 school year.

Back in 2010, the then Pac-10 tried to woo Texas and five other Big 12 schools into the West Coast-based conference to form a Pac-16.

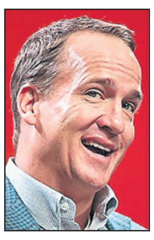
Texas stayed put and instead started its own television network. After another flirtation between Texas, Oklahoma and then-Pac-12 Commissioner Larry Scott, Texas A&M bolted for the SEC in 2012 and Missouri followed.

Mannings to team up for MNF MegaCast

BY JOE REEDY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ESPN has finally landed Peyton Manning as a "Monday Night Football" commentator. It's just not in a way anyone expected, and it won't be for the full season.

Walt Disney Company announced on Monday a partnership with Manning and his Omaha Productions company in which Peyton and Eli Manning will be part of a "Monday Night Football" MegaCast for 10 games a year the next three seasons.



Peyton Manning

Eli Manning

Manning, a former Indianapolis Colt who will be enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame next month, has long been rumored as a "Monday Night Football" commentator since he retired after the 2015 season, but the sides were never able to reach an agreement. Now fans will be able to get his views, albeit in a different format and with his brother, who retired last year after leading the New York Giants to two Super Bowl championships.

The Manning's MegaCast will debut the first three weeks of this season, including the Sept. 13 opener between the Baltimore Ravens and Las Vegas Raiders, with the remaining seven weeks to be announced. It will air on ESPN2 and be streamed on ESPN+ while the standard broadcast will be on ESPN and/or ABC.

The MNF crew of Steve Levy, Brian Griese, Louis Riddick, Lisa Salters and John Parry will return for a second season.

MegaCasts had been a staple of ESPN's coverage of the College Football Playoffs before it expanded to the NFL last year.

The Week 2 game between the New Orleans Saints and Raiders averaged 15.59 million viewers on ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and ESPN Deportes, which was one of the most-watched MNF games of the season. ESPN also brought back the MegaCast for the wild-card round game between Baltimore and the Tennessee Titans.

ESPN chairman Jimmy Pitaro said in a statement that the MegaCast is designed to be a great complement to the traditional telecast. NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell said in April when the league finalized its new 11-year broadcast agreements that the networks would have more leeway for alternate broadcasts.

Amazon, which will become the exclusive outlet for "Thursday Night Football" beginning in 2022, had alternate presentations during its simulcasts with Fox last season. CBS did a kids-focused broadcast of the wild-card game between the Chicago Bears and Saints.

"Offering multiple viewing options for the next three seasons continues our innovation efforts and provides additional value for our fans," Pitaro said. "Peyton and Eli will bring a different approach, delving into conversation about broader, big-picture topics while also honing in on the game, much like fans do when watching with their family and friends."

The MegaCast will originate from a remote location.

The Mannings will be joined by a host to be determined and will include other guests. While the game will always be visible, the conversation will be informal and is geared to be as if viewers are watching a game at home with friends.

"This partnership with ESPN and The Walt Disney Company reflects an ongoing, shared commitment to offering fans fun, innovative content," Peyton Manning said in a statement. "ESPN+ has been a terrific partner for Omaha Productions as we built out The Places franchise and we're excited to co-create a new MegaCast format that will have something for everyone."

Peyton Manning already has a working history with ESPN.

His "Peyton's Places" series on ESPN+ was meant to be a one-off to celebrate the NFL's 100th season, but is in its third season.

NFL teams may face forfeits for virus outbreaks

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NFL teams that experience a COVID-19 outbreak among nonvaccinated players could forfeit regular-season games, with players on both teams not getting paid.

NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell warned the 32 teams Thursday in a memo obtained by The Associated Press that no games would be rescheduled under such circumstances. Instead, forfeits could happen.

Roger Goodell

"As we learned last year, we can play a full season if we maintain a firm commitment to adhering to our health and safety protocols and to making needed adjustments in response to changing conditions," Goodell said.

He added that the league does not anticipate adding a 19th week to accommodate games that need to be moved because of coronavirus issues.

"If a game can't be rescheduled and is canceled due to a COVID outbreak among non-vaccinated players on one of the competing teams, the team with the outbreak will forfeit and will be deemed to have played 16 games for purposes of draft, waiver priority, etc," Goodell added.

For purposes of playoff seeding, the forfeiting team would be assessed a loss and the other team a win.

If there is a virus outbreak because of a "spike in vaccinated individuals, we will attempt to minimize the competitive and economic burden on both participating teams," the memo said. The NFL has not made vaccinations mandatory. The league and the NFL Players Association, however, are strongly urging team employees and players to do so.

Last year, in the height of the pandemic, the NFL completed its season, the playoffs and Super Bowl on time. But it had contingency plans for an 18th week to play makeup games if needed.

NOTICE OF REAL PROPERTY
TAX SALE
Jennings County Indiana
Beginning 10:00 AM Local Time,
August 30, 2021
Commissioners' Meeting Room

Jennings County

Pursuant to the laws of the Indiana General Assembly, notice is hereby given that the following described property is listed for sale for delinquent taxes and/or special assessments. The county auditor and county treasurer will apply on or after 08/13/2021 for a court judgment against the tracts or real property for an amount that is not less than the amount set out below and for an order to sell the tracts or real property at public auction to the highest bidder, subject to the right of redemption. Any defense to the application for judgment must be filed with the Jennings County Superior Court and served on the county auditor and treasurer before 08/13/2021. The court will set a date for a hearing at least seven (7) days before the advertised date of sale and the court will determine any defenses to the application for judgment at the hearing. The county auditor and the county treasurer are entitled to receive all pleadings, motions, petitions, and other filings related to the defense to the application for judgment.

Such sale will be held on 08/30/2021 at the Commissioners' Meeting Room and that sale will continue until all tracts and real property have been offered for sale. At the discretion of local officials, the tax sale may switch to an online format. If those measures are taking place, the public auction will be conducted as an electronic sale under IC 6-1.1-24-2(b)10 at www.zeusauction.com commencing on the same date / time listed above. All location updates will be posted at www.sriservices.com prior to the tax sale.

Property will not be sold for an amount which is less than the sum of:

(A) the delinquent taxes and special assessments on each tract or item of real property; and
(B) the taxes and special assessments on the real property that are due and payable in the year of the sale, whether or not they are delinquent; and
(C) all penalties due on the delinquencies, and
(D) an amount prescribed by the county auditor that equals the sum of:
(1) fifty dollars ($50) for postage and publication costs; and
(2) any other costs incurred by the county that are directly attributable to the tax sale; and
(E) any unpaid costs due under IC 6-1.1-24-2(c) from a prior tax sale.

No property listed below shall be sold if, at any time before the sale, the Total Amount for Judgment is paid in full. If the real property is sold in the tax sale, the amount required to redeem such property will be 110% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed not more than six (6) months after the date of sale, or 115% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed more than six (6) months after the date of sale, plus the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the real property plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the property. All taxes and special assessments upon the property paid by the purchaser subsequent to the sale, plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on those taxes and special assessments, will also be required to be paid to redeem such property.

In addition, IC 6-1.1-25-2 (e) states the total amount required for redemption may include the following costs incurred and paid by the purchaser or the purchaser's assignee or the county before redemption: (1) The attorney's fees and cost of giving notice under IC 6-1.1-25-4.5; (2) The costs of title search or examining and update the abstract of title for the tract or item of real property. The period of redemption shall expire on Tuesday, August 30, 2022 for certificates sold in the tax sale. For certificates struck to the county, the period of redemption may expire Tuesday, December 28, 2021.

If the tract or item of real property is sold for an amount more than the minimum bid and the property is not redeemed, the owner of record of the property who is divested of ownership at the time the tax deed is issued may have a right to the tax sale surplus.

The Auditor and Treasurer specifically reserve the right to withhold from the sale any parcel which has been listed in error, or which otherwise becomes ineligible for sale either prior to 08/30/2021 or during the duration of the sale.

This notice of real property tax sale, and the tax sale itself are undertaken and will be conducted pursuant to the requirements of the laws of the State of Indiana which regulate the sale of land for delinquent taxes, pursuant to I.C. 6-1.1-24-1 et seq.

The County does not warrant the accuracy of the street address or common description of the property, and a misstatement in the key number or street address does not invalidate an otherwise valid sale.

Minimum bid amounts are prescribed by law and are subject to change prior to the auction date.

Pursuant to IC 6-1.1-24-3(e), property descriptions may be omitted for properties appearing on the certified list in consecutive years. A complete property list may be obtained at www.sriservices.com or in an alternative form upon request.

Registration For Bidding On the Tax Sale:

If you are interested in bidding on the tax sale for an Indiana county, you may register online at https://sriservices.com/. This registration is good for all counties that SRI services. You need to register only once for all counties. Make sure to bring the completed form with you to each sale. This will speed up the registration process for you the morning of the sale. If you do not have access to a computer with internet service you may register the morning of the sale.

Please arrive the morning of the tax sale at least 30 minutes before the beginning time to be assured you will receive your bid number before the start of the sale.

Please bring your registration form and W9 form with you the morning of the tax sale. You will be able to print these forms from the registration web site.

Pursuant to IC 6-1.1-24-5.1 a business entity that seeks to register to bid at the Jennings County Tax Sale must provide a Certificate of Existence or Foreign Registration Statement in accordance with IC 5-23 from the Secretary of State to the Jennings County Treasurer.

All-Big Ten last season.

Ibrahim rushed for 1,076 yards and 15 TDs on 201 carries as a junior. The scores rank fourth for a single season in school history.

ADVISER ALVAREZ

Former Wisconsin athletic director and coach Barry Alvarez is joining the Big Ten as the special adviser for football.

Alvarez retired from Wisconsin after the past 18 years as AD and 16 seasons previously as coach of the Badgers. Big Ten Commissioner Kevin Warren announced Alvarez would be joining the conference, starting Aug. 2.

"I trust Barry Alvarez implicitly," Warren said. "He means everything to this conference."

Alvarez will work with Warren on College Football Playoff expansion, television and bowl contracts, scheduling, and player health and safety.

Alvarez led the Badgers to three Big Ten titles and three Rose Bowl victories as a head coach and went 119-74-4.

Warren also said Wisconsin Chancellor Rebecca Blank will replace Northwestern President Morton Schapiro as chairperson of the Big Ten Council of President and Chancellors.

IndyCar inks new deal with NBC Sports

BY JENNA FRYER
AP AUTO RACING WRITER

IndyCar announced an extension with NBC Sports on Tuesday that guarantees a majority of its races will be on the main network broadcast rather than cable, including a series-high 13 events on the flagship channel next season.

Still, the migration toward streaming will hit full speed next season as NBC Sports plans to exclusively stream two IndyCar races on Peacock. The rest of the IndyCar schedule, which is expected to be 17 races but has not yet been released, will air on USA Network.

Jon Miller, president of NBC Sports programming, said the network never wavered in its desire to extend its relationship with IndyCar because "we think its some of the most competitive racing out there. We think it is, quite honestly, really, really good racing."

He cited this season's move to IndyCar for seven-time NASCAR champion Jimmie Johnson and former Formula One driver Romain Grosjean as audience-builders, as well as an emerging crop of new stars.

Current IndyCar points leader Alex Palou is one of four first-time winners this season, and the 24-year-old Spaniard is actually the oldest winner in an exciting, young group.

Miller told The Associated Press the extension was a three-year deal and that NBC Sports is proud of the growth its seen since it acquired the entire IndyCar schedule in 2019. NBC Sports previously only held the rights to races on cable, while ABC/ESPN held the broadcast rights.

"We saw what happens when you have the entire property exclusively is you can marshal all the different assets inside NBC Universal to promote it and showcase it," Miller said.

Mark Miles, president & CEO of IndyCar parent Penske Entertainment Corp., said the series had an obligation to explore the market before extending with NBC Sports. Miles said IndyCar had "a major disruptive streaming platform" offer to buy the entire IndyCar rights for exclusive worldwide streaming.

Although IndyCar passed on that deal, Miles said he believes streaming is a critical part of the series' growth.
